Please be advised that the company's 414MW San Gabriel Combined Cycle Power Plant is currently investigating the condition of its generator following a trip. The initial investigation, which is being carried out by specialists from Siemens Power Operations Inc., indicates that there is an electrical fault in the generator, and pending completion of the inspection, the plant has been declared as unavailable for dispatch. Once the investigation is completed, we will provide the estimate of the expected return to service of the San Gabriel Plant.

We will inform the Exchange of any material development in this regard.
